Student's Name: _____   Evaluator: _____

Score each category out of 5 (whole numbers only) according to the rubric criteria. A score of 5 should be rare. A presentation meeting all of the criteria below would be considered a superb presentation (top 90th-centile).

5 – Superb; 4- More than adequate; 3- Adequate; 2- Less than adequate; 1- Clearly deficient

	Background/Hypothesis	Experimental Logic	Results	Conclusion
ORGANIZATION AND CONTENT	- Background information was relevant and summarized well. - Connections to previous literature and broader issues were clear. - Goals and logical hypothesis were stated clearly and concisely; showed clear relevance.	- Excellent choice of experimental methods to address hypotheses or goals of project. - Excellent original thinking or innovation of technique. - Clear discussion of controls or comparative groups; all appropriate controls or comparative groups included.	- Substantial amounts of high quality data were presented sufficient to address hypotheses or goals of project. - Presentation of data was clear, thorough, and logical. - Potential problems and alternative approaches identified.	- Sound conclusions were developed and strongly supported with evidence. - Conclusions were connected to project goals or hypotheses and their relevance in a wider context was discussed.

	Logical and Clear Presentation	Presence	Figures and Tables
PRESENTATION MEDIA AND DELIVERY	- Presentation is consistently clear and logical. - Presentation is eloquent in its simplicity and flow of information. - Text is concise, free of spelling or typographical errors. - Presentation is visually appealing (colour, layout, background, etc). - Media used effectively and without distraction.	- Delivered presentation in a professional manner. - Demonstrates excellent knowledge of subject and related areas. - Speaks clearly, naturally, and with enthusiasm. - Good enunciation and voice tone. - Presentation fit within ~12 min and maintained interest throughout.	- Figures and tables are labeled correctly. - Graphs and tables improve the understanding of the data, are utilized properly, and are clearly explained by the presenter. - Figures enhance visual appeal. - Presentation has a good balance of figures/tables/pictures (visuals) and text.

Organization and Content	Comments	Score /5
Background and Hypothesis
Experimental Logic
Results
Conclusion

Delivery of Presentation	Comments	Score /5
Logical and Clear Presentation
Presence
Figures and Tables

Overall	Comments	Score /5
Overall impression of the presentation
Overall, do you feel this presentation is worthy of an award (yes/no)?
Total Score (out of 40)		